Today, the organization is led by Chairman Barry Diller and CEO Ariane Gorin, with major institutional investors like Vanguard and BlackRock holding the largest shares. Bill Gates has long since moved on to focus on his philanthropic efforts and other investments, leaving the travel sector to the specialized management teams that have grown the brand into a global household name.

The platform has expanded to include a massive stable of brands such as Hotels.com, Vrbo, and Orbitz, creating a unified ecosystem for travelers. Whether you are looking for a luxury resort or a budget-friendly flight, calling +1(877) 308-2080 is the most direct way to access the vast inventory that this independent company manages. Understanding that it is no longer part of Microsoft helps travelers appreciate the specialized focus the brand has on travel technology and customer service. For the vast majority of users, booking travel is a simple transaction that will not appear on a credit report or affect a credit rating.
